Expression From Over Country.

"This movement embodies an expression from all parts of the country and all kinds of people, and is non-political in the sense of being non-partisan, with only the general industrial good of the country in view. The plan is a detailed, logical and sancone, and is the result of long discussion with leading men throughout the country and Mr. Howard H. Gross, now the president of the tariff commission league.

Approval of Plan. "The Tariff Commission league and its propoganda have nothing to do with any form of tariff, but aim at the present and past methods of tariff-making. The approval of the plan seems to be general and very enthusseems to be general and very enthusiastic. Our organization has such leading thinkers and representative people as Thomas A. Edison, James J.
Hill, George W. Perkins, ex-secretary of agriculture of Kansas, F. D. Coburn; A. P. Grout, president of the National Alfalfa Growers' association;

Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust & Savings bank; Dr. H. E. Stockbridge, president Farmers' National congress; Miss Jane Addams, famous civic worker; Ike T. Pryor of San Antonio, Texas, one of the leading business men of the southwest; and among those who have signified their general approval of the plan and movement are Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; John J. Gannon, president of the Hibernian Bank and Trust company of New Orleans; Arthur P. Hadley, president of Yale university; many members of congress, representing all political complexions and parties, and a long list of others. "It is the purpose of the Tariff Commission league at this time to tell the people what the movement means and undertakes, with a view of creating a popular demand which will secure through your congressmen what you insist upon. Tariff-making is now a creature of partisan politics, and it is impossible for five hundred members of congress to gather and study the economic data and material upon which to proceed fairly and scientifically. This work should be delegated. A permanent tariff commission would accomplish great things for the good

"But, then I am told that these are the correct things for up to date schools. I cannot understand it, so I guess I do not belong here, "Same way with the cafeteria. It cost about $10,000 to install it, and it takes up a lot of room and last year it ran behind, but this year we hope to do better. I opposed the thing, but I was told that cafeterias are the correct whing in other cities and I was overruled. We have men in the city engaged in the business of serving ature in channels of interstate commerce, ature in channels of interstate commerce, lost his appeal to the United States court school and some of the pupils patron-ize them instead of the high school cafeteria. Now I cannot figure out where we are any better off for hav-ing spent that $10,000,"
